

Virtual Juror Reference Guide

The U.S. District Court for the District of Utah has prepared this reference guide to help you prepare for the jury selection process and for serving as a juror. The court is grateful for your service and will answer any questions you may have.

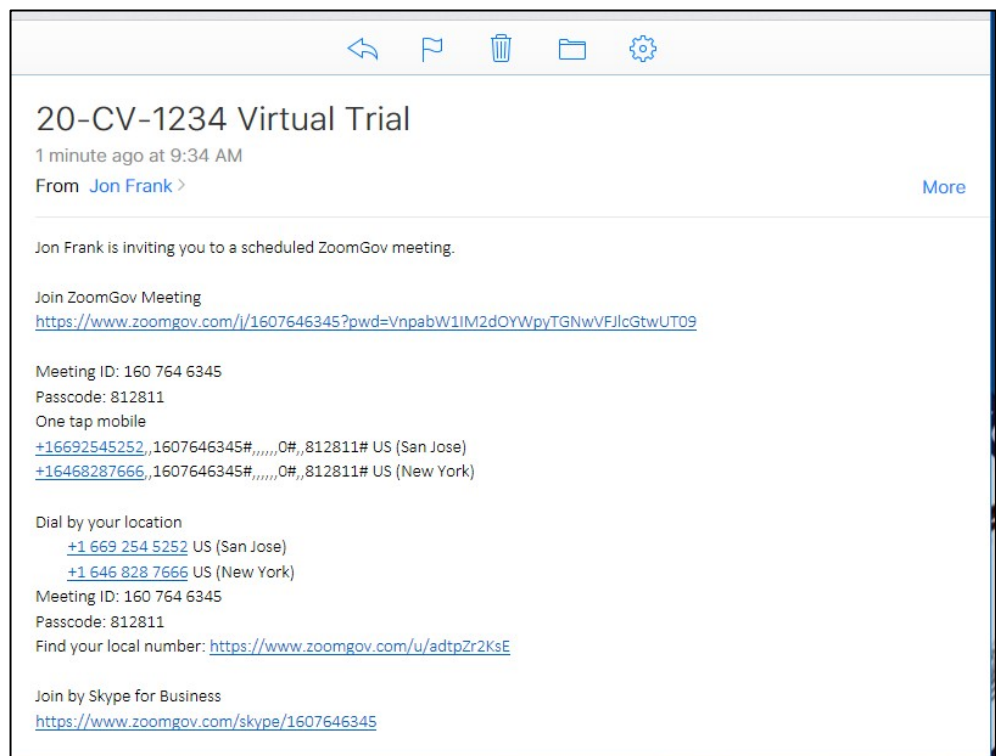

The court expects all participants to treat video hearings as though they were in a courtroom with proper attire and professional conduct.

The most current version of this Guide is posted online.

Please send corrections or suggestions to dj.nuffer@utd.uscourts.gov.

If you have been summoned for the jury selection process or if you have been chosen as a juror, you will receive a ZoomGov invitation by email from the courtroom deputy for the judge presiding over the trial.

Example invitation email:

Please note that the email may differ slightly, depending on your email service provider.

You should join the Zoom meeting giving yourself plenty of time to check your connection, video, and audio settings to ensure that technical issues are solved. See the next page for technological requirements. The court highly recommends, if possible, that you download and install the Zoom application to your device and use your full name when registering for the account.

Technological Requirements

You will need a computer (highly recommended) or tablet (not recommended) with a speaker or headphones, a microphone, and a camera. If using a computer, you may be prompted to download and run Zoom (highly recommended). If using a tablet, you should download the free Zoom app in advance of connecting to the Zoom meeting.

Using headphones with a microphone is preferred to reduce other noise and feedback. Also consider using a web camera for better video quality.

Internet Connectivity Speeds – minimum upload speed is 800kbps and minimum download speed is 1.0Mbps. For gallery view and/or 720p HD video, you need 1.5Mbps upload and 1.5Mbps download.

www.speedtest.net is a free internet connectivity speed test. It is critical to test connectivity in real world conditions, such as internet use by multiple users and higher traffic during business hours.

You should ensure that no one else on your internet connection is in a video conference or streaming video such as YouTube or gaming.

Renaming

One of the first things to do when starting Zoom is to verify that the name that appears beneath your picture is your name, not someone who used the computer before. Click the three dots that appear when you hover over your photo and select “rename.” If you have been assigned a juror number, please enter your name as “Juror #__”

Zoom Application Controls

On a computer, as you hover your mouse over the Zoom meeting, a menu bar containing participant tools may appear and disappear, typically at the bottom of the screen. Mobile app interfaces will appear differently but will contain most of the same functionality.

Computer Controls

1. Mute/Unmute your microphone – To unmute yourself and begin talking, click the unmute button (microphone). To mute yourself, click the Mute button (microphone). Click the up arrow next to the microphone icon to open audio settings. Here you can change your speaker and microphone settings.
2. Start/Stop your video feed (turn on/off camera) – Click the Start Video button in the menu bar to begin your video stream. Click the Stop Video button to stop sharing your video stream. To choose a different webcam or adjust your video settings, click the up arrow next to the camera icon and select Video Settings.

Unless you have already been given a juror number, ensure that your displayed participant name is the same as your legal name. Right Click on current name and choose rename. A pop up box will appear asking you to enter a new screen name. Once you have been given a juror number, you should enter Juror #__ as your screen name.
4. Chat – Click to open the Chat panel where you can start or respond to a chat message with the Host or Co-Host of the meeting.

Computer

If there will be an interpreter in your trial, the interpretation button will appear on its own or in a button marked More... If that is the case, the court will instruct you how to use this button so that you hear the correct language.

If you are using a computer and have the free Zoom app installed, you can change your settings in the app to display up to 49 participants at a time. Select the arrow next to Video and then choose Video Settings. On the left side of the screen, select Video.

Then scroll down on the right side of the screen and select 49 participants under Maximum participants displayed per screen in Gallery View.

- Always show video preview dialog when joining a video meeting
- Hide non-video participants
- See myself as the active speaker while speaking

Maximum participants displayed per screen in Gallery View:

Zoom Breakout Rooms

During the trial, court staff may move all jurors to a separate room in the Zoom platform. This could happen if the attorneys need to confer with the judge without jurors present. In a physical courtroom you would be moved to a jury conference room. In the Zoom platform, we use a virtual (breakout) jury room. In this virtual room you will be able to see and interact with your fellow jurors.

During deliberations, you will be moved to a virtual (breakout) jury room, where you will discuss the case with your fellow jurors and decide the outcome of the case, as instructed by the judge.

During this deliberation period you may need help, have questions, or want to signal that you have reached a decision. In that case, you can use the  button. Clicking this button will invite the Host of the trial (typically the courtroom deputy) to the virtual (breakout) jury room.

The presiding juror for the jury would be the person to do this.

Zoom Chat

There may be times during the trial when the judge or court staff will direct you to correspond with the court using the chat feature in Zoom. This feature is restricted so that you can only correspond with court staff, which would normally be the courtroom deputy, but could also be the judge presiding over the trial.

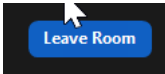

When you click the chat button (See 4 under Zoom Application controls), the chat panel will open. You will see that you can only send a private chat message to court staff.

Jury Room

Throughout the jury selection process, trial, and jury deliberation, you will periodically be moved into a virtual jury room. In the jury room you will be able to see and interact with your fellow jurors. Do not discuss the case until the judge says you may do so. The court will try to let jurors know the length of time they will be in the room. When the jury is deliberating, it is the jury that controls the schedule.

At no time should you leave the jury room unless directed to do so.

Clicking the Leave Room button  will only give you the option to leave the meeting (trial).

Exhibits

Throughout the course of the trial, each party may display exhibits. They will do this by sharing their screen. You will want to make sure your view settings are set so that you can still see the key participants and the exhibits.

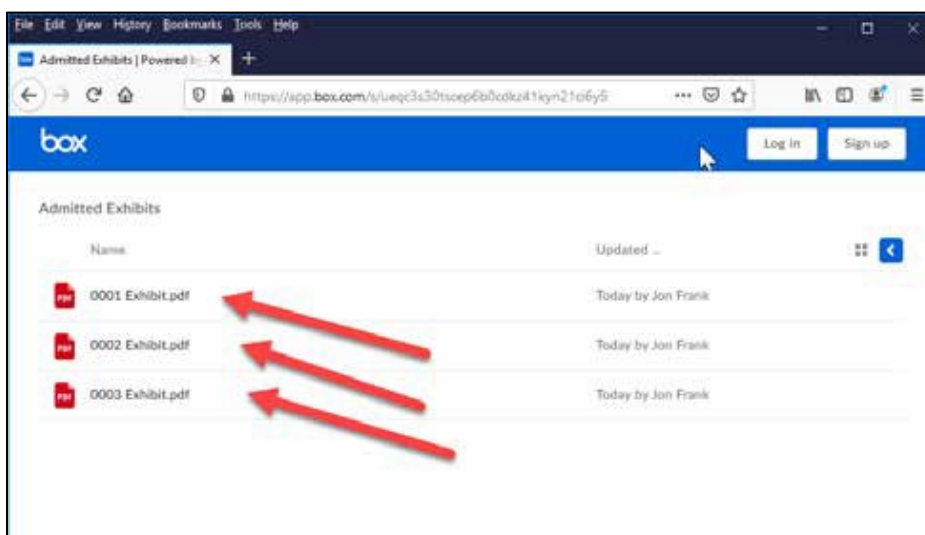

At the top of your Zoom window, you will see a menu bar indicating screen sharing.* Click on the dropdown for View options and make sure it is set to Side-by-side Mode, which will maximize your view of participants by displaying them to the side of the screen share.

*This option is not available on an iPad.

At the conclusion of the trial, when the courtroom deputy moves you to the virtual (breakout) jury room for deliberation, you will be provided with a link to the exhibits. This will be either via the chat feature in Zoom or by email. The Exhibits will be stored in Box.com so you should refer to the Box for Jurors document.

When the link to the Box exhibits folder is clicked, the exhibits folder will open up in your web browser. Click on an exhibit name to view it.

The exhibit will open. You can use the browser “back” button to return to the list of exhibits.
